

CONTENTS

CHAPTER	PAGE
AUTHOR'S PREFACE . . . . .	iii
I THEORIES OF THE STATE . . . . .	1
The Sociological Idea of the State . . . . .	15
II THE GENESIS OF THE STATE . . . . .	22
(a) Political and Economic Means . . . . .	24
(b) Peoples Without a State: Huntsmen and Grubbers . . . . .	27
(c) Peoples Preceding the State: Herdsmen and Vikings . . . . .	33
(d) The Genesis of the State . . . . .	51
III THE PRIMITIVE FEUDAL STATE . . . . .	82
(a) The Form of Dominion . . . . .	82
(b) The Integration . . . . .	89
(c) The Differentiation: Group Theories and Group Psychology . . . . .	92
(d) The Primitive Feudal State of Higher Grade . . . . .	105
IV THE MARITIME STATE . . . . .	121
(a) Traffic in Prehistoric Times . . . . .	122
(b) Trade and the Primitive State . . . . .	135
(c) The Genesis of the Maritime State . . . . .	140
(d) Essence and Issue of the Maritime States . . . . .	155
V THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE FEUDAL STATE . . . . .	174
(a) The Genesis of Landed Property . . . . .	174
(b) The Central Power in the Primitive Feudal State . . . . .	182
(c) The Political and Social Disintegration of the Primitive Feudal State . . . . .	191
(d) The Ethnic Amalgamation . . . . .	213
(e) The Developed Feudal State . . . . .	221
VI THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL STATE . . . . .	229
(a) The Emancipation of the Peasantry . . . . .	231
(b) The Genesis of the Industrial State . . . . .	236
(c) The Influences of Money Economy . . . . .	243
(d) The Modern Constitutional State . . . . .	257
VII THE TENDENCY OF THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE STATE . . . . .	274
NOTES . . . . .	293