

About the Authors

KRIS FEDER, Ph.D

Dr. Feder taught economics at several Pennsylvania universities before receiving her doctorate from Temple University. She was appointed assistant professor at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, New York, in 1991. She specializes in public finance and the history of economic thought. An earlier version of her paper in this book was presented to the annual meeting of the History of Economics Society, Babson College, June 12th 1994.

FRED HARRISON, M.Sc

Graduate of Oxford and London universities. Author, The Power in the Land (1983). He is Director of the Centre for Incentive Taxation, and Editor of the bi-monthly journal Land & Liberty. He is currently advising Russian municipal governments and federal government agencies on property and taxation reforms.

MICHAEL HUDSON, Ph.D

Visiting Scholar, Institute of Fine Arts, New York University. Author: Trade, Development and Foreign Debt (1992), and Bronze Age Finance, 2400-900 BC (forthcoming). Dr. Hudson has been economic adviser to US, Canadian and Mexican government agencies and to the UN Institute for Training and Research. An earlier draft of the study by Dr. Hudson in this volume was presented as a paper to the Society for Economic Anthropology (SEA) in March 1994 at Notre Dame, Indiana. It will be printed in the SEA volume on Property: The Economic Context (1995).

GEORGE MILLER, MD

Dr Miller, a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, is a senior clinical scientist with the Medical Research Council's Epidemiology and Medical Care Unit in London. He is an international expert in diseases of the heart. He was Professor in Residence in Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine at Albert Einstein College of Medicine, New York, in the 1980s.